School experiences are an important process in the development of an individual--strongly complementing the home and church. It is my feeling that 1959-60 has provided the school experiences essential for normal adjustment into our adult society. It is my hope that those leaving us will continue to respect the importance of the educational process and will recognize that their education will not be complete with the termination of their formal education. This school year has seen many contributions to the future of education in Sherman County. You can be proud of having been a part of this progress.

Board aims for superior schooling

Taking a moment off the business at hand, the school board poses for the Husky photographer. They are Harold Eakin, Grass Valley; Leland Medler, Rufus; Charles Burnet, Moro; John Decker, chairman from Kent; Marvin Thomas, Wasco; and Marjorie Marvin, clerk.

Two years ago the school board began a long-range program for improvement of the school building and grounds. First was the construction of the new wing, which solves last year's problem of crowded classrooms.

Just this spring a three-year project for landscaping the school grounds has begun.

Next fall the Huskies will be fighting for fame under a lighted football field. Also the gym is to receive a new ceiling, which will greatly improve the acoustics.

Faculty works

DORIS PEARSON

Miss Pearson shows one of her home economics classes how to mix a cake. She teaches home economics, girls' P.E. and health, and advises FHA and GAA.

VERNON MASON

Mr. Mason teaches his biology class about turtles, using one of the new charts. He teaches physics, biology, chemistry, and general science.

MARY BRACKETT

Miss Brackett is demonstrating how to make use of the card catalogue to the freshmen. In addition to taking care of the library, she teaches English IV and directs all class plays.

ORDIE HOYE

Mr. Hoyer smiles as he listens to the comments of those "characters" he has for students. He teaches American problems, U.S. and World history. Also he advises the freshman class, coaches varsity basketball and track and is assistant football coach.

DOUGLAS JACOX

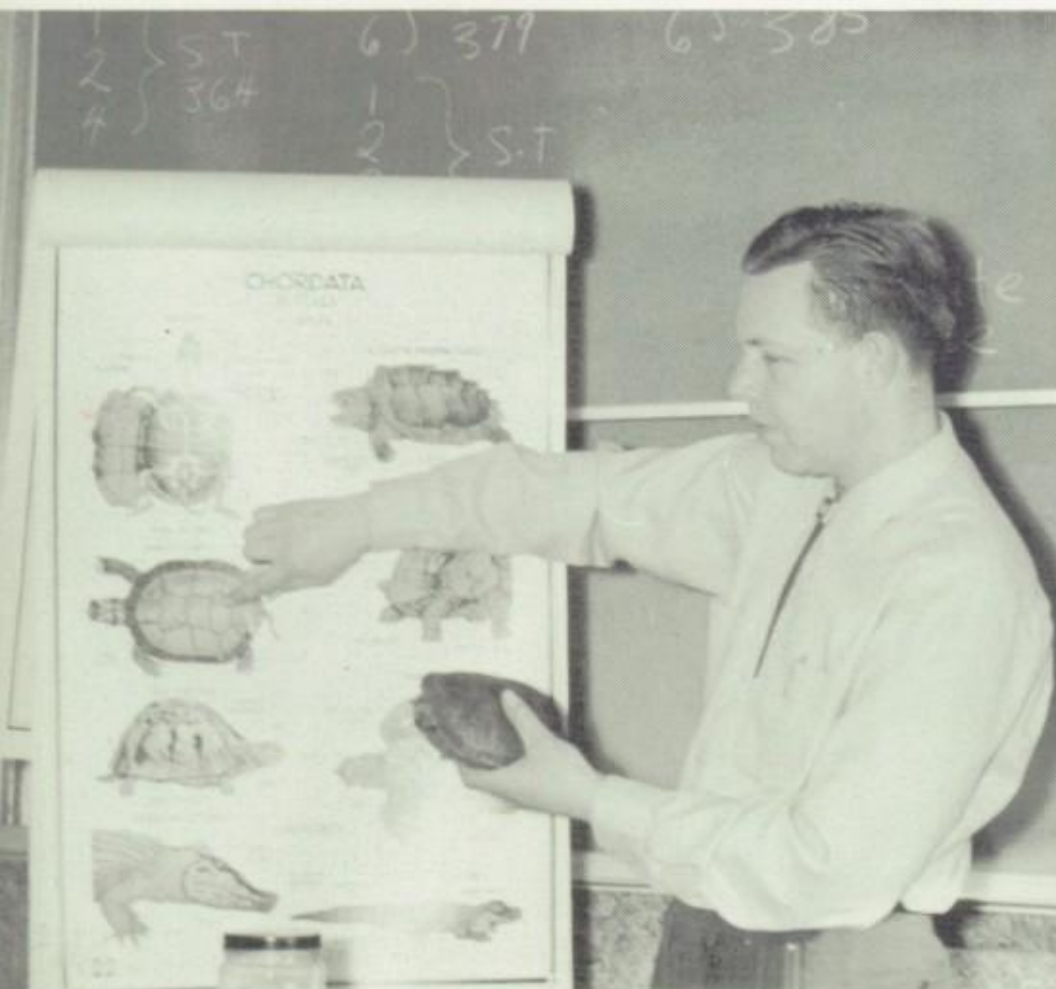

Sweet music drifts through the band room as Mr. Jacox directs the band and chorus. He advises the drill team and majorettes. Mr. Jacox also directs the Dixielanders and Shermanaires.

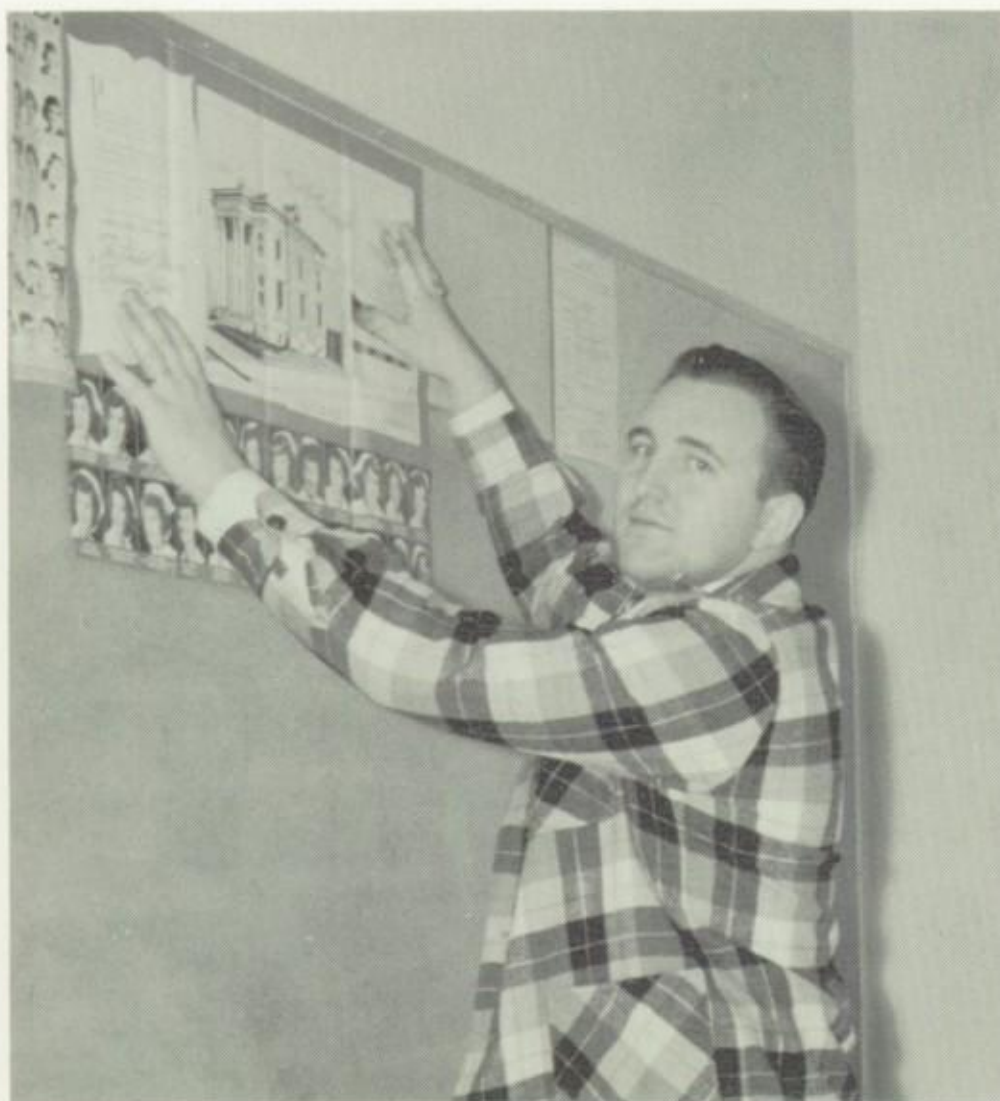

Sherman was happy to welcome our principal and six teachers back for another year. Because of the growing student body, it has been necessary to add two teachers. Last year we lost three teachers and this year we gained five: Mr. Hoyer, Mr. Jacox, Mr. Henderson, Miss Shumway and Mrs. Frye.

The faculty have worked hard on evaluation committees, many meetings being held after school and at night. They are attempting to improve our school and deserve a "pat on the back."

They have taken time out of busy schedules for relaxation, too. They enjoyed a coffee hour after school in the brightly furnished faculty room. A hamburger feed, a volleyball game with the student council (which they lost), and a picnic held by OEA at Brooks Memorial Park for all the teachers in Sherman County were times of diversion.

MARVIN ROBERTSON

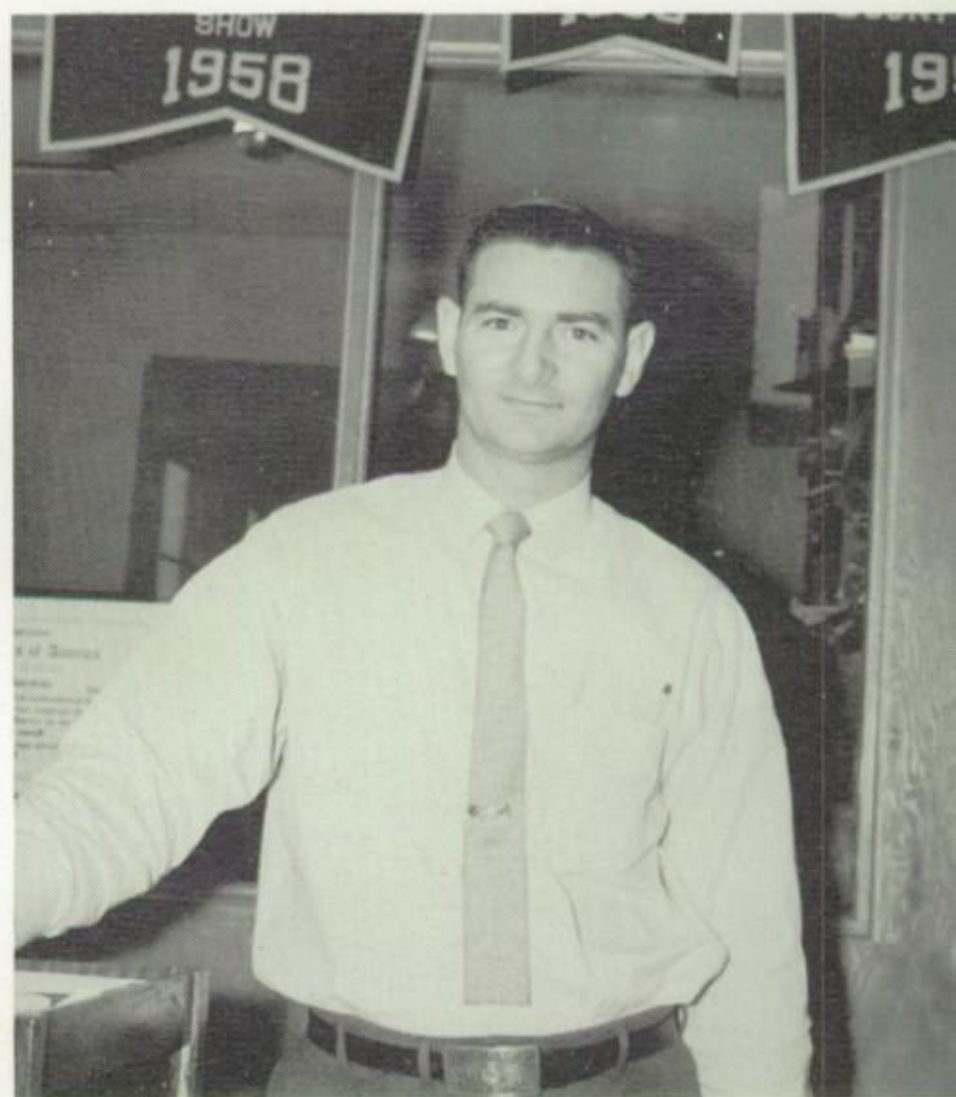

Mr. Robertson, vocational agriculture and shop instructor, was snapped as he was listening to class discussion. He advises the senior class and Future Farmers of America.

MASON HENDERSON

Mr. Henderson is shown describing a home-made device which illustrates a mathematical principle. He instructs all mathematic courses, as well as advising the junior class.

DORIS HAMPTON

Mrs. Hampton explains to one of her English classes the use of the SRA Reading Laboratory material. In addition to teaching English and journalism, she advises the publications and Quill and Scroll.

DALE CHRISTIANSEN

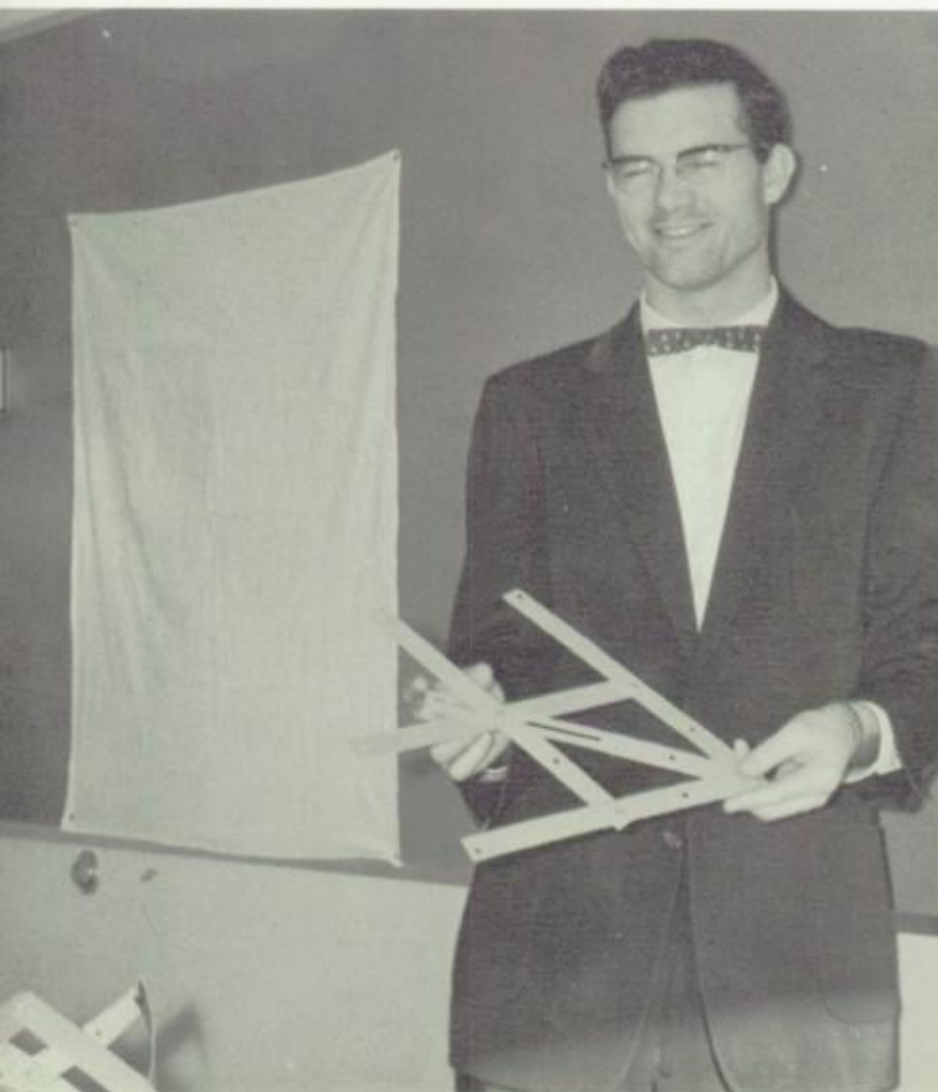

Mr. Christiansen, school counselor, is shown putting up information concerning college scholarships. In addition to teaching speech, health, and P.E., he advises the Lettermen's club.

MARY ANN SHUMWAY

Miss Shumway is caught resting a moment after posting pictures of the exports from France. Social studies, French, and P.E. and health are classes she teaches. She also is adviser of the National Honor Society.

DELIGHT FRYE

Mrs. Frye explains the typewriter keyboard to her first year typing class. She teaches typing I, and II, shorthand I and II and English III and is the sophomore class adviser.

Personnel serve school

Busily writing an admit slip, Marjorie Marvin, efficient office secretary and school clerk, performs a daily duty.

Ready to feed a hungry student body, Margaret Hammond, head cook, makes ready for the noon hour.

Dorothy Alberty, assistant cook, happily cuts some ham for a tasty dish.

Herman Peters, janitor, is caught watering the flowers outside the kitchen door.

Tom Woodcock, Sherman's other custodian, carefully cleans the hall floor in his daily rounds.

This year the seniors put the traditional Football Dance aside to introduce the Homecoming Dance. The class was well represented as petite senior Penny Higley was crowned by Terry Kaseberg, football captain, to reign over the event.

The upperclassmen were noted for their fine performances in the courtroom -the setting of the class play. A jury selected from the audience rendered a verdict of not guilty after a stirring dramatization.

It was necessary for the seniors to get away from it all before the big night of graduation. The appointed place was Portland.

Leaders in senior politics were Tom Eakin, president; Mary Ann McKay, secretary; John Capaci, vice president; Nancy Wilson, treasurer; and Fred Dormaier, sergeant at arms.

Zealous seniors mark way for underclassmen

The seniors chose the red rose as class flower and red with silver as class colors to complement their motto: We are always looking toward the future; the present does not satisfy us; whatever our goals may be, lie further on.

Seniors skip on Friday the 13th

Charles Griggs and Gordon Richards pause for a handful of peanuts before completing their tour of the zoo.

The Mad Mouse provided screams and laughter for these seniors as they prepare for a breathtaking ride.

Senior Skip Day arrived in May, Friday the 13th. It was no day for skeptics or pessimists but it certainly was a day for 34 gloriously happy seniors and their eight chaperones. They left the high school early and managed to stick close to a fun-packed schedule all day.

The cloudy and somewhat drizzly weather threatened to dampen the party, but all was dry except a few hairdos and some pants' seats.

Arriving at the new Portland Zoo, a ride on the zoo train and a peek at the animals were in store for everyone.

On the go again, the cars headed for Oaks Park, where four crazy hours were spent. Favorites at the park were the Mad Mouse, the bumper cars, and the roller rink.

Next on the itinerary was dinner. Dressing at the YMCA and YWCA, the seniors put on their best duds. It was a regal banquet at the Sheraton Hotel in the California Room where etiquette and appetite fought it out.

Following dinner, seniors claimed seats in Rows A and B in the balcony of the Music Box to view the Oscar Award winner, "Ben Hur".

Leaving Portland behind, the seven cars pulled out and headed for The Dalles. The 2:30 date at the Recreation was kept, and most of the group managed to bowl at least two lines. A much-needed snack brought the day to a close; the next stop was home and bed.

Officers guide class activities

Sophomore leaders are shown at left strolling down the halls of the new wing. The sophomore talent show highlighted the class functions for the year. Class officers are Paul Sather, treasurer; Barbara Hampton, secretary; Malcolm Eslinger, president; Bonnie Tatum, sergeant at arms; and Gene Eakin, vice president.

The juniors had smooth driving as their officers and adviser steered them into successful activities. Class events included a spring play and the Junior Prom. Officers are Diana Henrichs, sergeant at arms; John Duncan, secretary; Larry Middleton, treasurer; Mike Zachary, vice president; Ron Mobley, president; and Mr. Henderson, adviser.

Student council has been working along with Mr. Bieker every first and third Monday to look for solutions to school problems.

The council sponsored a dance and volleyball game with the faculty for the student body to raise money for the March of Dimes.

Mr. Bieker and six councilmen attended the Region 2 council meeting held at The Dalles High School, where they gained many pointers on improving student council.

Honor students earn recognition

Seated is the executive group of the National Honor Society of 1960 consisting of: Shirley Watkins, head of the executive committee; Nancy Wilson, secretary; Larry Helyer, president; Ronda Fraser, vice president; and Jim Thomas, treasurer. Standing are Miss Shumway, adviser, and new members: Darlene Miller, Betty Reckmann, Arlene Macnab, Ron Mobley, Jim Duncan, Janet Thompson, Joyce Edwards, and Lana Paulson.

The Honor Society, a young organization at Sherman, admitted eight new students into membership. Larry Helyer, president of the Honor Society, welcomed Jim Duncan, Joyce Edwards, Arlene Macnab, Darlene Miller, Ron Mobley, Lana Jean Paulson, Betty Reckmann and Janet Thompson at the student assembly, May 24, in the cafetorium.

To qualify for this honor a student must attend Sherman High School for at least one semester. He must obtain a minimum grade point average of 3.25 and have qualities of good character, leadership, and citizenship. The membership must not exceed 8 1/2% of the student body.

Miss Shumway was the National Honor Society adviser last year.

Top journalists installed by candlelight

Quill and Scroll's principal activity of the year was the installation ceremony. Mrs. Hampton, adviser, welcomed new members and presented honorary awards to Alice Eslinger, Fred Dormaier, and John Capaci. The two editors and Shirley Watkins, as installing officer, carried on the rest of the program.

In order to become members, the candidates must be in the upper third of the junior or senior class, scholastically; they must do outstanding work in some phase of journalism; they have to be recommended for membership by their adviser; and they must be approved as being worthy of membership by the National Executive Secretary. Nine students met these qualifications for membership.

Plans are being made toward the Quill and Scroll initiation ceremony by Margaret Brown, secretary; Mrs. Hampton, adviser; Shirley Watkins, vice president; Ronda Fraser, president.

Leading and advising this year's paper staff have been Editor Margaret Brown, Assistant Editor Bob Cyphers, and Adviser Mrs. Hampton.

Hard work characterized the 1960 Sherman Hi Times staff. This was the first year that all typing and stenciling have been done during class time.

The many action shots and other pictures were possible because of the poloroid camera of Photographer Fred Dormaier. The senior and May editions were combined this year with a lithographed page of senior pictures.

The identity of the "Dear Gabby" column was kept secret this year. Only the editor and Gabby, who proved to be Mr. Robertson, knew the secret until the last issue was published.

Journalists present

Mimeograph operator, Bob Archer, and slip-sheeter, Walter Reed, are shown running off a stencil while Alice Eslinger, headline artist, and Patty Byars, reporter, work on other pages.

The linotype machine was a main attraction during the visit to the Sherman County Journal. Shown watching Mrs. French are Dale Dewey, Diana Henrichs, Alice Eslinger, Jack Rich, Steve Belloni, and Steve Close.

Typing and checking copy are Lana Paulson, Betty Bothwell, Judy Watkins, Barbara Hampton, Peggy Alberty, Shirley Watkins, Phyllis Lutje, and Marilyn Smith.

Trimming pictures and pasting them up are Lynn Rathbun, Anne Petersen, Paulette Willis, Bonnie Tatum, Janet Thompson, Patty Byars, Jeanne Macnab, and Diana Henrichs.

Photographers, typists, and writers make up the group that works diligently after school on the Husky with the purpose in mind of preserving all school happenings.

Purchasing a camera, setting up a negative file, and an individual card index were among the many accomplishments of this year's staff. As the school grows, it becomes necessary for the annual to become more complex, and with these new aids the work of the staff has become easier.

Mrs. Hampton, adviser, approves layouts planned by Arlene Macnab, assistant editor, and Ronda Fraser, editor of 1960 Husky.

A hike in May finished a busy year for the GAA girls. Their first sponsored activity was an initiation and candlelight installation ceremony with a tasty ham dinner following. Each new member entertained by pushing a penny down the hall with her nose. An auction of clothes, unwanted or forgotten, was held in March with a trampoline act preceding it.

Every year three playdays are held. This year they were at Maupin, Condon, and Sherman.

Girls in this club do not have to be outstanding athletes, but must have an active interest in sports. They must earn 50 points a year in order to remain members and receive their annual awards.

Pepsters help boost school spirit

Featured in one of their favorite yells are the Husky cheerleaders, Darlene Miller, Peggy Alberty, and Patty Byars.

These ambitious girls are examples of living school spirit. The Husky cheerleaders began their role with enthusiasm and the will to make the school spirit of Sherman High outstanding. Their success was evident at every game throughout the year.

Booklets containing sportsmanship rules, and new yells and songs were given at the first pep assembly. At the end of the basketball season they presented a trophy to the class exhibiting the most school spirit. These were some of the many projects that our pert cheerleaders accomplished during the year. Our hats are off to these gals!

"Music for May" was the theme for the Spring Concert on May 7. "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring" and "Around the World in 80 Days" were some of the songs which were featured by the chorus.

A girls' sextet, "The Shermanaires", was organized and sang at both concerts. The following six girls comprise the sextet: Jacque Bucholtz, Judy Watkins, sopranos; Barbara Gilman, Mary Griggs, second sopranos; Ann Halvorsen, Nancy McKean, altos.

Penny I reigns over Homecoming

Seniors crowned at Winter Wonderland

Two seniors, King Orville I and Queen Lynn I, seated in the arbor, were crowned at the annual Winter Wonderland Dance. Standing behind the couple is Everett Royse, student body president, who crowned the royal couple. Other members of the court were John Fields and Patty Byars, junior prince and princess; Tony Capaci and Onalee Miller, sophomore prince and princess; Bill Doolin and Kay Higley, freshman prince and princess. Kneeling are the crown bearers, Billy Nesbit and Sue Rathbun.

Too nervous to smile immediately after the coronation was the royal court including Tony Capaci and Onalee Miller, sophomore prince and princess; Kay Higley and partner Bill Doolin, freshman prince and princess; Patty Byars dancing with John Fields, junior prince and princess.

Radiant Queen Lynn Rathbun and escort King Orville Blaylock were seniors chosen to reign over the annual Winter Wonderland Dance, Dec. 19.

Dance highlights holidays

Melodious strains of Winter Wonderland drifted against deep blue streamers as Connie Axtell, Darlene Gochnauer, Mary Ann McKay, Shirley Watkins, and Peggy Alberty harmonized.

Football team honored

Honoring the members of the football team and the coaches was the annual Football Banquet, held Dec. 14 in the high school cafetorium. Mr. Ted Ogdahl, coach at Willamette University, was the guest speaker for the evening. Mothers of the football players planned the banquet and the Rufus Grange served the dinner.

A giant mural of Mauna Loa, a spouting Hawaiian volcano, was the center of attraction at the Junior Prom, May 14, in the gym.

The heavenliness of soft pink and violet crepe paper draped into a false ceiling, toned with a dance tempo of the "New Notes" with Lynn Teadtke, inspired a dreamy atmosphere.

"Hawaiian Sunset" was the theme used throughout the decorations. The juniors made a refreshment bar supplied with island delicacies such as pineapple chunks and coconut macaroons.

From the bandstand Lynn Teadtke mutes the notes of his trumpet while the pianist accompanies in the background.

The trophy case boasted new attire during the heated campaigning season. Pictured are Margaret Brown and Peggy Alberty. SHS students took this year's student body voting seriously, as is evident by the sober faces of the voters as they elect their next year's officers. In the foreground are Alice Kaseberg just finishing voting and Lana Paulson getting ready to vote. With their backs toward the camera are Peggy Alberty, Ronda Fraser and Everett Royse, who with Margaret Brown served on the election board.

Votes pour in after campaign pressure

After an apathetic attitude SHS displayed while electing their student body treasurer, the election board was hoping for a better turn out for the remainder of the student body elections.

The campaigning proved to be successful. The students put up clever and convincing posters each saying his candidate was best.

When the polls opened May 11, they were swamped by students anxious to cast their votes for his favorite. By taking a count at the end of the day it was discovered that a 100% voting record was set.

New officers were installed by Everett Royse, student body president at the awards assembly, May 24. The new student body officers installed were Jim Duncan, president; Malcolm Eslinger, vice president; Darlene Miller, secretary; Phyllis Lutje, treasurer; Bonnie Tatum, assistant annual editor; Mary Griggs, assistant paper editor; Diana Henrichs, advertising manager and Guy Andrews, sergeant at arms.

A smile and a handshake went with Mr. Bieker's congratulations as he presented the Outstanding Homemaker Award to Penny Higley. Penny's excellent grades in the advanced Homemaking Class and leadership as president of FHA earned her the honor of seeing her name engraved on the gleaming trophy furnished by the Crisco Company.

Penny Higley, chosen Outstanding Homemaker of the year, and Terry Kaseberg, selected as FFA Star Farmer were recognized and awarded at the Awards Assembly, May 27.

Tribute paid

Darlene Gochnauer, nervous but thrilled, stepped to the podium to receive her awards.

A big graduation present went to Darlene Gochnauer when she accepted two scholarships. The Union Pacific Railroad will aid Darlene in furthering her education at Oregon State College through the Carl Raymond Gray Award. She also received the Women's Club Scholarship.

Jim Thomas was awarded a scholarship by the State Scholarship Commission. This provides a partial fee to a state college in Oregon.

Ronda Fraser, valedictorian, and Larry Helyer, salutatorian, speak into the waiting microphone as they address classmates and guests.

Valedictorian, Betty Crocker "Homemaker of Tomorrow" Award, and a publication award for remarkable work on the 1960 yearbook are recorded on Ronda Fraser's long list of achievements.

Larry Helyer ran a close race with Ronda and earned the right to become Salutatorian. The student body named Larry Outstanding Senior Boy.

to worthy students

A delightful surprise was awaiting when Mr. Bieker ripped the tape off the engraving that held the name Margaret Brown, Outstanding Senior Girl. Margaret was honored with a publication award for her work as paper editor.

Ron Mobley received the FFA Scholarship Award for maintaining the highest GPA in the organization.

Four deserving girls were recognized and awarded scholarship pins for the highest class GPA: Alice Kaseberg, freshman; Barbara Hampton, sophomore; Arlene Macnab, junior; Peggy Alberty, senior.

Talent awarded at 'Spring Fever'

The sophomore class had its Talent Show, "Spring Fever", On Apr. 22, in the high school cafetorium. The setting was a mural picturing a boy fishing in a restricted area, observed by a policeman. Master of Ceremonies was Malcolm Eslinger.

Divisions were: Lower Grades (preschool through fourth), Upper Grades (fifth through eighth), and High School. A $5 first and a $3 second prize were given in each division.

Ballerina Julie Reynolds won first place in the Lower Division; Shelley and Debbie Reynolds took second with their hula.

Carolyn Johnson won second place in the Upper Grades Division. Organist Sharon Coelsch, not pictured, took first place.

"One more trophy for the trophy case," was a phrase boasted often by the Husky Football Team after the victory over Maupin, which made Sherman the district champions.

Coach Christiansen led the team to five victories out of the nine games played. One victory was with Madras who was ranked much higher than Sherman.

The Huskies will meet tougher opponents next year as Sherman becomes an A2 school.

SHS had a successful basketball season before becoming an A2 school. Out of the 21 games played, the Huskies walked away with 17 victories.

Sherman won the district tournament with little difficulty, defeating Condon Thursday afternoon, Arlington Friday night, and Wheeler Saturday night.

At the state tournament in Baker, March 10-12, the boys found tougher competition in Alsea and Halfway. In spite of a packed cheering section, two losses were suffered, putting the team out of the tournament.

These boys have proven their scholastic ability. The names of the starting 5 appeared on the honor roll and honorable mention most of the year.

Advertisers Index

We, the members of the Husky Staff, wish to thank all the people, both in The Dalles and Sherman County, for contributing to the support of this book. Your support is the backbone of our organization and enables us to publish a book which represents our school.
